

Zwatch

About

Zwatch is a watch that produces a hologram by a finger click. The hologram catches the sensors of our hand when we bring our hand close to it and then activates by a finger click.

The video shows a prototype that will be made in year 2030. The video starts by an intro, then the activation of the watch, then working of the watch, and finally the presenting the brand of the watch.

Efficiency

Zwatch enables the user to have a hologram and have a big screen in front of them. A user cannot just only operate the hologram feature but also many other features. Like the heart rate of a person, calling system, weather conditions, photos and many more.
